EIGHT REPEAT SELECTIONS AND 15 FIRST-TIME SELECTIONS LEAD 2021 PRO FOOTBALL WRITERS OF AMERICA ALL-NFL TEAM; ALL-AFC AND ALL-NFC TEAMS ALSO ANNOUNCED

Eight repeat selections and 15 first-time selections are part of the 2021 All-NFL team, chosen in voting conducted by the Professional Football Writers of America (PFWA).

Five teams – the Baltimore Ravens, Dallas Cowboys, Cleveland Browns, Green Bay Packers and Los Angeles Rams – each placed a league-high three players on the All-NFL team.

Packers wide receiver Davante Adams, Browns guard Joel Bitonio, Rams defensive tackle Aaron Donald, Browns defensive end Myles Garrett, Rams cornerback Jalen Ramsey, Packers quarterback Aaron Rodgers, Ravens placekicker Justin Tucker and Pittsburgh Steelers outside linebacker T.J. Watt all repeated from the PFWA's 2020 All-NFL squad.

Donald was named All-NFL for the seventh consecutive season (2015-21), the longest current streak among active players. The seven straight All-Pro honors ties Donald with Pro Football Hall of Famers Randy White (1978-84) and Reggie White (1986-92) for the longest streak by a defensive player in PFWA All-NFL history. Tucker was selected for the fourth consecutive season (2018-21), setting the record for the most consecutive PFWA first-team selections by a placekicker, breaking his tie with Hall of Famer Morten Andersen (1985-87). Watt was selected for the third consecutive season (2019-21). Adams, Bitonio, Garrett, Ramsey and Rodgers were all selected for the second straight season.

Donald made the All-NFL team for the seventh time overall, while Tucker (2013, 2016, 2018-21) is a six-time All-NFL selection. Tucker's sixth honor sets the mark for the most PFWA first-team selections by a placekicker. Martin got his fifth All-NFL nod (2015-18, 2021), and his first since 2018. Rodgers picked up his fourth All-Pro honor (2011, 2014, 2020-21), as did Kelce (2017-19, 2021).

A total of 15 players, including one rookie, are first-time All-NFL selections. Cowboys outside linebacker Micah Parsons is the first rookie All-NFL player since New Orleans' Deonte Harris at punt returner in 2019.

The Steelers and San Francisco 49ers each have two players on the All-NFL team. In all, 15 clubs are represented among the 27 players honored by the PFWA.

The All-NFL offense includes Rodgers at quarterback, Cleveland's Nick Chubb (first selection) and the Indianapolis Colts' Jonathan Taylor (first selection) at running back, Adams (second selection) and the Rams' Cooper Kupp (first selection) at wide receiver, Baltimore's Mark Andrews (first selection) at tight end, Kelce at center, Bitonio (second selection) and Martin at guard and San Francisco's Trent Williams (first selection) and Tampa Bay's Tristan Wirfs (first selection) at tackle.

The All-NFL defense includes San Francisco's Nick Bosa (first selection) and Garrett (second selection) at defensive end, Donald and Pittsburgh's Cameron Heyward (second selection) at defensive tackle, Parsons and Watt (third selection) at outside linebacker, Green Bay's De'Vondre Campbell (first selection) at inside linebacker, Dallas' Trevon Diggs (first selection) and Ramsey (third selection) at cornerback and the Tennessee Titans' Kevin Byard (second selection) and the Buffalo Bills' Jordan Poyer (first selection) at safety.

The All-NFL special teams include Tucker at placekicker, the Las Vegas Raiders' A.J. Cole (first selection) at punter, the New York Jets' Braxton Berrios (first selection) at kickoff returner, Baltimore's Devin Duvernay (first selection) at punt returner and the New Orleans Saints' J.T. Gray (first selection) as the special teamer.

The PFWA also announced the 2021 All-AFC and All-NFC teams. Six teams led the AFC with three selections each – the Browns, Chiefs, Colts, Patriots, Raiders and Ravens. The Cowboys and Rams led all NFC clubs with four conference selections each, while the 49ers had three NFC honorees.

The PFWA has selected an All-NFL team since 1966, and All-AFC and All-NFC teams since 1992.
